

Southeast Georgia Health System Dean of Nursing and Health Sciences for the

The College of Coastal Georgia is offering a rare and distinctive opportunity for a well-qualified leader to direct the development of an innovative and collaborative Nursing program that is being designed to prepare graduates of the highest caliber in an energetic and forward-looking four year college setting. The Southeast Georgia Health System Dean of Nursing and Health Sciences will have responsibility for building a premier nursing and health sciences faculty and curriculum. A new state-of-the-art Health and Science building is presently under construction, which will be an exemplary resource for the Health and Sciences program. The College is located in Brunswick, Georgia, the major city serving the Atlantic coast's Golden Isles.

To be considered, candidates must hold an earned doctorate and be eligible for Georgia State licensure as a registered nurse. In addition to having at least five years of progressive administrative experience, candidates must have a record of teaching and scholarship that merits the rank of a tenured professor.

THE POSITION

Directing the 17-faculty member department, the Dean will have a major role in shaping and developing the College's new pre-licensure baccalaureate in nursing, accelerated track, and RN-to-BSN programs. This officer also will oversee the associate degree programs in nursing and radiologic sciences.

Among the responsibilities of this position will be to:

- Persuasively articulate the vision, mission and goals of the Nursing and Health Sciences programs as well as the College of Coastal Georgia
- Continue developing the foundation, infrastructure and resources for expanding the Nursing and Health Sciences programs
- Oversee assessment, develop or revise academic programs, and implement procedures and processes that enable the College to meet goals and standards in nursing and the health sciences
- Effectively and efficiently develop and manage the budget and the faculty and staff resources allocated to the Nursing and Health Sciences programs
- Provide effective leadership and advocacy for the Nursing and Health Sciences programs and the faculty within the College and local community
- Actively promote inclusion and diversity in the staff, faculty and student populations
- Lead collaboratively in a manner that promotes a supportive,

- responsive working and learning environment
- Promote ideas, foster innovation, encourage scholarship and demonstrate respectful leadership

Qualifications

The Dean will have an abiding commitment to academic excellence and a successful record of leading organizational change in an academic setting.

The candidate selected will have:

- The ability to foster strong, collaborative partnerships with area hospitals, health organizations and the broader community
- A strong background in program design, faculty development and accreditation

- Experience with development and implementation of processes and procedures and with program planning and assessment that enables the program to achieve goals and standards
- A collegial leadership style that promotes a supportive, responsive working and learning environment for faculty, staff and students
- Exceptional written, oral and interpersonal communication skills
- An understanding of budgetary processes and procedures and personnel management
- The ability to recruit, retain and develop talented faculty
- A commitment to promote diversity among the faculty, staff and student populations

- The ability to listen to divergent views while building consensus and collegiality
- The highest standards of personal and professional integrity and credibility

About the College

The College of Coastal Georgia is the newest four-year state college in the 35-member University System of Georgia. The College transitioned from a two-year to a four-year institution in 2009 with a new mission and vision.

This administrative leader will have an abiding commitment to academic excellence and a successful record of leading organizational change in an academic setting.

The College has campuses in Brunswick and Kingsland, Georgia, and employs more than 200 faculty and staff. It serves more than 3,450 students in baccalaureate and pre-baccalaureate degree programs.

The College also provides lifelong learning programs, participates in economic development within the College service area and has strong partnerships with K-12 schools. In the coming decade, the College expects to grow significantly, adding expanded curriculum and a full array of student services.

Located in the vibrant Atlantic coastal region, with historic communities and lovely beaches, the College benefits from the area's strong economic and civic bases.

About Brunswick, Georgia

Brunswick is located on the Atlantic coast, between Jacksonville, Florida, and Savannah, Georgia. The city proper has approximately 16,000 residents, with the metropolitan population closer to 104,000.

While the city's economy encompasses manufacturing, agricultural processing, and bulk cargoes, including being the fourth-largest automobile port in the eastern United States, tourism constitutes the largest industry in Brunswick and the Golden Isles. Brunswick also is the center of Georgia's shrimp and crab industry, attributing to the city's nickname, the "Shrimp Capital of the World."

Southeast Georgia Health System is the city's largest private employer.

The College of Coastal Georgia is an equal opportunity employer.
